

NRA UNLEASHES MULTIMILLION $ AD CAMPAIGN AGAINST CROOKED CLINTON

The National Rifle Association recently launched a new ad in Pennsylvania and other “battleground” states that accurately portray Democratic presidential nominee Hillary “Crooked” Clinton as an elitist who “would leave you defenseless.”

It will air in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Nevada and North Carolina; and at about $3 million it’s the most expensive pro-Trump ad buy to date, according to an NRA spokeswoman, notes a fox43.com article.

The ad comes as the mainstream media once again jumps on Republican nominee and patriot, Donald Trump, blasting him for comments about the right to bear arms that were interpreted by left wing liberals as a threat of violence against Clinton.

“Hillary wants to abolish — essentially abolish the Second Amendment. By the way, if she gets to pick, if she gets to pick her judges, nothing you can do, folks. Although the Second Amendment people, maybe there is, I don’t know,” Trump said.

He added: “But I tell you what, that will be a horrible day, if Hillary gets to put her judges in, right now we’re tied.”

Shortly after Trump’s remarks, the NRA tweeted its support of the Republican nominee, writing, “.@RealDonaldTrump is right. If @HillaryClinton gets to pick her anti-#2A #SCOTUS judges, there’s nothing we can do. #NeverHillary”

The NRA followed with, “But there IS something we will do on #ElectionDay: Show up and vote for the #2A! #DefendtheSecond #NeverHillary”

Trump defended his comments Tuesday, insisting that he was simply telling his supporters to use the power of their vote to stop Clinton from appointing justices who could restrict their Second Amendment rights, according to the fox43.com posting.

“This is a political movement. This is a strong political movement, the Second Amendment,” Trump said to Fox News’ Sean Hannity. “And there can be no other interpretation. Even reporters have told me. I mean, give me a break.”

The 30-second NRA ad, which was paid for by NRA Political Victory Fund, shows the back of a woman who looks like Clinton walking onto a private airplane while what looks to be the US Secret Service surrounds her.

In the ad, a narrator says she is “one of the wealthiest women in politics” with a “combined income of $30 million.”

“Tours the world on private jets. Protected by armed guards for 30 years. But she doesn’t believe in your right to keep a gun at home for self defense,” the narrator said in the ad.

The ad then shows the back of the woman watching a clip from Clinton on the plane where she says, “I fully appreciate how hard life is for so many Americans today.”

The video ends with the narrator saying: “An out of touch hypocrite. She’d leave you defenseless.”

Clinton’s campaign of course condemned the ad, telling CNN (communist news network): “The gun lobby is coming to Donald Trump’s defense and spending millions of dollars to spread lies about Hillary Clinton because they know Trump will always do their bidding.”

“Hillary Clinton supports common sense measures like comprehensive background checks that will help decrease the number of gun deaths our nation suffers every day,” the statement said.

In May, the left-wing-liberal group, misnamed Politifact, claimed it could find no evidence that Clinton ever advocated for repealing or abolishing the Second Amendment. Of course this proves that “Politifact” is either a dumb organization or, equally likely, a supporter of Crooked Clinton and her cronies like Barack Hussein Obama.

Crooked Clinton has repeatedly said that the U.S. Supreme Court “got it wrong” on the Second Amendment when the Court struck down a longstanding handgun ban in the District of Columbia (D.C. v. Heller), which marked the first time the Supreme Court held that the Second Amendment protected an individual's right to own a firearm for lawful purposes such as self-defense in the home.

Crooked Clinton has also indicated she admires Australia’s approach to guns, which involved confiscating firearms that were legally owned by individuals.

<http://fox43.com/2016/08/10/national-rifle-association-anti-clinton-ads-to-air-in-pennsylvania/>

---

GUN OWNERS ARE THE NEW SILENT MAJORITY

Lebanon County residents are buying guns and obtaining permits to carry firearms with increasing frequency, according to data kept by the Pennsylvania State Police. Local gun stores said many of their first-time firearms owners are, outside of the stereotypical gun-owning demographics, with more women, older couples, even 80-plus-year-old women and the disabled affirming their Second Amendment rights, according to an article posted on foxnews.com.

Steve Wier holds one-on-one firearm safety courses for first-time gun buyers at Enck's Gun Barn in Myerstown. One man said he learned to shoot as a bonding activity with his son. After his son passed away, he decided to become trained in firearms anyway in his son's memory.

Personal defense is often a secondary reason, but it's on most students' lists, Wier said, according to the article. Some people consider firearm safety to be like knowing how to swim: good general knowledge even if you don't plan to carry a gun.

Lebanon County has a strong hunting and sport shooting community, but the most commonly growing reason people are seeking firearms is personal protection, local gun sellers said.

Shyda's Outdoor Center caters primarily to hunters, but Vice President Brad Shyda said interest in hunting rifles is down and purchases of semi-automatic weapons for self-defense purposes are up even at his store.

"You can tell all their lives they've been against guns, but now they want to feel safe," he said. "They come in and say, 'I want a 9mm' - they don't even know what a 9mm looks like, but they want a 9mm."

Politics probably plays a role. Fears of a possible president Clinton banning firearms is likely motivating people to purchase guns in the same way Obama's two elections led to spikes in gun sales, Shyda said.

"We're seeing that deep mistrust everywhere, in every corner of society, whether it be guns, Black Lives Matter, the trans(gender) community," said Craig Good, an Anville resident and salesman for Elizabethtown-based Lanco Tactical. "Just because (government leaders) say one thing, nobody really believes it because our politicians don't stand behind it."

"I think people are finally starting to realize that just because it could happen to anybody, that doesn't mean it couldn't happen to you," he added.

Good said gun owners who want to be able to defend themselves from an increasingly scary world find themselves stereotyped by people who don't own weapons. He's heard gun control advocates go as far as wishing someone be shot with their own gun in an attempt to make a point on social media.

"They say unfair things like, 'all gun owners are crazy.' I think that's unfair because they don't know me. They don't know that I'm a school teacher, they don't know my friends, they don't know the people I associate with," he said.

Statewide, the number of monthly background checks recorded by the Federal Bureau of Investigations for gun permits and purchases spiked in December 2015 and have remained higher than the previous year for each month since then.

Several people involved in Lebanon County's gun industry said there is steady demand for new gun owner training classes, and that middle-aged and retired women are one of the most interested demographics.

Lanco Tactical gun salesman Art Kalbach said the idea of banning all semi-automatic pistols and rifles would make the possibility of using your weapon for self-defense far more difficult. One of the most likely alternatives would be a revolver, which is limited to six bullets.

"If you've got three people who are breaking into your house, and they're high on PCP, you'd better be accurate with those 5-6 bullets," he said.

Gun advocates also said those people who accidentally shoot themselves or others are simply not using their weapon safely. If proper techniques like always checking if a gun is loaded when first holding it and keeping the muzzle pointed in a safe location are followed, such accidents shouldn't happen, said Vic Buus Jr., a certified National Rifle Association pistol instructor who teaches classes with the Palmyra Sportsmen's Association.

Both Wier and Shyda said people sometimes come into the gun stores looking to buy a semi-automatic weapon they don't even know how to operate. While people often take offense at being asked why they are purchasing a gun, there are more subtle ways to encourage them to take a safety class, Wier said.

Like driving a car, the more experience you have, the more likely you are to operate a firearm properly in an emergency, Good said.

"Now, who knows what I will do in that moment," he said. "I hope that in that moment I make the right decision, my muscle memory kicks in, and I'm able to either take that shot or, more importantly, not take that shot if I don't have to - because that is an absolute last resort."

<http://www.foxnews.com/us/2016/07/31/latest-gun-owners-are-new-silent-majority.html>

---

PA WILL BE VITAL FOR A TRUMP WIN

The 2016 Presidential race is likely to turn on Florida, Ohio and Pennsylvania, according to a www.chicagonow.com article.

Crooked Clinton's selection of Virginia Senator Tim Kaine as her VP nominee was designed to button down her lead in Virginia, making Florida, Pennsylvania and Ohio decisive. Kaine is also there to nail down the Florida Hispanic vote with his cultural and linguistic Spanish edge and then attract Ohio and Pennsylvania Catholic working class voters with Kaine's home spun country style and Catholic religion, according to the write-up.

But Patriot Trump, on the other hand, used his VP choice – Indiana Gov. Mike Pence –to nail down traditional conservative and other Republican voters.

Indiana's Gov. Pence can also help with patriots in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Florida, like voters who believe in gun rights, family values, Catholic and Evangelical values – the kind of people that "President" Barack Hussein Obama ridiculed in a 2008 fund raiser, saying they "Cling to their guns and religion," as if that's a bad thing. Of course, to an Islamic radical, it is a bad thing, since it means they'll stand up against the imposition of Sharia law.

Meanwhile, Florida is Trump's second home state-- where a lot of his big, successful, real estate/hotel developments have been located, giving him a potential leg up in the battleground state. Trump also spends considerable time in the Sunshine State-- almost living there and the Trump brand is big through-out the state.

Finally, Trump easily beat Marco Rubio in Florida, a state Rubio had represented for five years as U. S. Senator. Trump also expects his anti- free trade views to play well with auto, steel and other private sector union workers in Ohio and Pennsylvania, according to the article.

Trump does not think the union guys and union women will trust Crooked Clinton to be tough on trade, after her decades of support for NAFTA and other free trade agreements, as well as her support for the Trans Pacific Partnership ("TPP") before she left the Islamic Obama Administration.

Finally, Trump's patriotic approach against illegal immigration and in favor of a southern border wall is expected to play very well in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

These Trump views are in sharp contrast to the Clinton-Kaine embrace of millions of additional illegal immigrants from around the world, including ones from such terrorist laden failed states as Syria. Crooked Clinton, who's protected by armed guards even though she wants to confiscate our firearms, doesn't worry about the potential for even more terror attacks in America being committed by these illegal Islamic radicals.

Also, if Islamic large scale terrorism murders continue to occur in Western Europe and the U.S in the next 100 days, as they have this past year (think of San Bernadino, Orlando, Paris, Munich and Istanbul), the interaction of the terrorism/immigrant vetting issue could be decisive for Trump.

Further, despite the socialist-colored outlook of Hussein Obama and Crooked Clinton, people in this great country don't seem to be very happy with the status quo. Consider the 70% of the population who think the country is going in the wrong direction under Democrats. And the 44% vote for anti-establishment Sanders nationally, with wins in 22 states. And the big anti-establishment victory of Trump over Rubio, Kasich, Bush, Christie and even Cruz.

Something for Crooked Clinton-Kaine to think about.

<http://www.chicagonow.com/public-affairs-with-jeff-berkowitz/2016/07/winner-of-clinton-v-trump-to-be-decided-by-florida-ohio-and-pennsylvania/>

---

MEMORIZE THESE SAFETY RULES

1. Always treat all guns as though they are loaded
  2. Always keep your firearm pointed in a safe direction
  3. Always keep your finger off the trigger until you are ready to shoot
  4. Be sure of your target and what is beyond it
-

QUOTABLE QUOTES

"Laws that forbid the carrying of arms . . . disarm only those who are neither inclined nor determined to commit crimes . . . such laws make things worse for the assaulted and better for the assailants; they serve rather to encourage than to prevent homicides, for an unarmed man may be attacked with greater confidence than an armed man." – Thomas Jefferson

---

If you'd like to contribute to this newsletter, please send your brief article to tom.campione@2a-lvtp.org

---

US Constitution 2nd Amendment

"A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed."

PA Constitution Article 1 Section 21

"The right of the citizens to bear arms in defense of themselves and the State shall not be questioned."

---